The day of the fair, abandoned years ago, seems at hand again, a fact in no more positive manner indicated than by the immediate interest aroused in all quarters by the mere suggestion of its revival. Individuals and companies have given assurances of hearty sup port, and a number have offered to take stock, some few going so far in their eagerness as to specify the amounts they would be willing to subscribe. The crystallization of this decidedly favorable sentiment into something definite and tangible that will get down to good solid work will be the effort of the meeting to

The efforts of Post A, acting as a body, will be confined to giving the movement a good start and then whoeping it on for all it is worth. Individual members may, and many in all likelihood will, subscribe for stock, but the organization itself will not attempt to conduct the fair as a business proposition. This it leaves to citizens. The Benefits to be derived by the Travelers will be those resulting from the bringing to Richmond of large numbers of people from all sections of the State.

Scope of Movement.

The general scope of the State fair movement has been outlined before. The project is a big one, and practically amounts to the establishment in Richmond of a thing long and sorely needed—an all-the-year source of entertainment, providing facilities for fairs, circuses, base-ball and foot-ball games, horse-racing and other popular diversions.

Reform.

Assembled in joint session the Chamber of Commerce and the Travelers' Protective Association of Richmend, each represented by a small, but select company of members, last night endorsed the Torren's method of land registration, pledged their hearty support to Mr. Eugene C. Massle, leader of the reform movement, and called upon their representatives in the coming General Assembly to exert all possible influence in behalf of the proposed new method.

Considering the complexity of the subject under discussion the interest and even enthusiasm manifested during the evening was noteworthy as indicating the feeling of calm business men toward the present cumbersome land laws and their desire to secure rellef in some form from evils steadily growing, in vogue. At the conclusion of Mr. Massle's address several gentlemen spoke briefly, one or two making frank statements of the experience they as proorty holders had been forced to endure under the present laws. It was then formally moved 'that the bodies sitting together unite in endorsing the new system and in otherwise using their influence to secure its adoption. The following resolution was proposed by Colonel John Murphy and unanimously adonted:

Resolved, by the Chamber of Commerce and the Travelers' Protective Association of the city of Richmond, in John meeting assembled, That we recognize the pressing need for reform of the land laws of Virginia, and respectfully request those who will ropresent us in the next Senate and House of Delegates to exert all their influence in behalf of the Torrens represent us in the next Senate and House of Delegates to exert all their influence in behalf of the Torrens System of Land Registration.

And we hereby authorize the presiding officer of this meeting to appoint a committee of five, whose duty it shall be to circulate such literature throughout the State as they may see fit for the promotion of this cause, and who shall present this resolution to the next General Assembly.

Mr. Massie's Speech.

About seventy-five men were in the hall during the evening. Mr. E. G. Leign, Jr., called the meeting to order and presented Mr. Massie, who, at once began to speak. After reciting the history of land laws from ancient times, to the present and pointing out the important effects they have exerted in assisting or retarding the development of nations, Mr. Massic took up the systems now in general use and more particularly that system under which Virginia for long ears has been laboring. For this system he had little to say that was good. He referred frequently to the "wretched system of collection of taxes and the odious "land-grabbers laws." and de-clared the land books of Virginia to be unreliable and notoriously incorrect.

The Torrens System. He explained the intricacles of the new system, indicating its effect upon the present laws, the manner in which it would be put into being, and so on. Its operation he summarized as follows:

1st. A title is examined once officially, and confirmed by order of court. That ends the matter.

2d. You are then given a certificate of title, which guarantees to all the world that you have such title as is set forth therein to the lands therein described—for example, a life estate, or a fee sim-He explained the intricacles of icate.

The Effect Of It.

The most striking thing in Mr. Mason's speech was his avowal that the Torrens system would put real estate on a footing with personal property and would add millions to the business capital, of Virginia. Referring to this matter, he said:

"The real estate of Virginia is, roughly speaking, assessed at 343 3-4 millions of the said: "The real estate of Virginia is, roughly speaking, assessed at 343 3-4 millions of the said o

Several gentlemen spoke briefly after Mr. Massie had concluded his speech proper. Among these were Colonel John B. Purcell. Mr. H. L. Cabell. Colonel John Murphy, Mr. Ordway Puller, Mr. Williams and others. Mr. Massie himself frequently took the floor again to reply to questions asked.

Plenty of Money On Contest. Review of Institute

One of the greatest games of foot-ball to be played this season will be witnessed this afternoon, when the Virginia Poly technie Institute cadets go against ed this afternoon, when the Virginia Polytechnic Institute cadets go agalist the eleven from the University of North Carolina. The game is scheduled for three o'chock and a crowd the like of which seidom flocks to the broad Street Park will see the tussle between the griddron gladdators.

Both teams are in the city and each side claims yletory. But the odds are in favor of the V. P. I. boys. Money was placed last night at two to one that the Blacksburg boys would carry off the game, while there were a tew wilgers placed that North Carolina would not score.

Carpenter, the great half back foot-bail player of the South, will be in the game to-day, and it is principally with him that the Blacksburg men home to, whi with else. They calculate on tearing their way through. North Carolina's line and forcing the ball down the field for touchdowns.

And it begins to look as though the boys from the Tar Heel State will be somewhat crippled to-day. Parker, the regular centre: Gardner, the quick and effective guard, and Sadler, the last quarter back, are all out of the game today. They are in North Carolina suffering from tonsilits. Brown and Singleterry, the two ends, will not be in the game, they having been crippled some days ago. But in the places of these men there is some strong and fast material and the game will be exciting from th start to the finish.

Both teas are quartered at Murphy's Hotel, and the interest among the lovers of the game was at fever heat last night.

Same As Played Army.

Same As Played Army. The team which the Institute will put in the fields this afternoon will be substantially the same one that played against the Army. With the exception of Tredwell, the same one will play, and from the specially hard practice of the past two weeks one is safe in saying they are in botter condition now than ever before. Many new plays have been tested against the second team and have proven wonderfully successful. Open work of great var4cty will probably characterize the game, but line plays will be in nowise dispensed with The line this season is specially trustworthy. Every man in it has made a reputation for himself and each one can be relied upon. They are all genuine Blacksburg material and have shown their quality in the tests of many games.

Silles, familiarly known as Reuben, at centre, weighs 159 pounds, and is as strong as a buil. It was over him that many substantial gains were made in the West Point game.

Sitcking played right guard last year and is still in the game. The students over at the institute say he never saw a toot-ball before he landed among the Virnina hills, but no one is quite bold chough to say it of him how. Sitekling swork this season has been fast and agressive.

Left guard is a position for which four applicants are running a close race. Difference in the season has been fast and agressive.

Left guard is a position for which four applicants are running a close race. Difference at the institute last seeson. It was the here of the fire which occurred at the institute last seeson. It was the others all they can do to maintain their right to contest for the honor.

Right tackle is again filled by Hyaes. Hynes is the here of the fire which occurred at the institute last seeson. It was then that he showed the courage which was presented to him last mals in recognition of his bravery. Hynes is fearless, flerce and strong. No man on the team can handle him, and there are few on any other team who can be considered his equal. The team which the Institute will put the fields this afternoon will be sub-tantially the same one that played gainst the Army. With the exception of

Wilson a Power.

Wilson at loft tackle is the same hard worker who has done so wonderfully well for saveral seasons past. He weighs 207 pounds and can run like a deer. Whenever he is given the ball he is certain to gain ground, and for general work he is always reliable.

Webber plays right end, and is the only new man on the team. Everybody else is a product of Blacksburg. There they learned the game, and as a senuine home aggregation they are superior to any lithe South. Webber played with the University of North Carolina last season, but deeded to cast his lot in his native State this year.

Brilliant Record.

Carpenter's record has been one of exceptional brilliance, and it is safe to say there is no man in America who is his peer as a player or as a master of the there is no man in America who is his peer as a player of the start of the leading university of the North whee one's athletic skill and prowess is heralded around the world, prowess is heralded around the world, prowess is heralded around the world, prowess is heralded at the start of the tree is a start of the tree is a start of the start

Probably Fatal Injuries.

James Britton, a negro man, was perhaps fatally injured last night by some unknown negro. Britton was struck over the head with some blunt instrument and his skull very probably fractured. The ambulance was called to Second and Byrd Streets, and Dr. Pitt attended to the man's injuries as best he could under the discussion and process. He was taken to the man's injuries as best he could under the circumstances. He was taken to his home, No. 212 South First Street, where Dr. H. B. Sanford was called to attend his injuries.

At a meeting of most of the prominent fox hunters here, held this merning, it was determined that it would not be good sport for Messrs, Marrow and Jordan to accept the challenge of Mr. Faucette to run a trial within six weeks in North Carolina. After the conference the gentlemen mentioned sent the following letter to Mr. Faucette:

Mr. G. H. Faucette:

Dear Sir,—We best to respectfully acknowledge the receipt of your challenge, which was handed to us on yesterday as per your request. In reply thereto we will say that after mature consideration we have decided that it would be detrimental to the future usefulness of the Virginia-Carolina Fox Hunters Association to engage in individual contests, especially when said contests grow out of any dissuisfaction with judges duly appointed by the said association.
